A REFERENCE GUIDE: CONDUCTING RESEARCH WITH PSYCHIATRIC SURVIVORS/CONSUMERS/SERVICE USERS*

*Special thanks to A. White for compiling this list

Lindow, V. et al. (2001). Survival Research, in C. Newness et al. (Eds.), This is madness too (pp.135-46). Ross-on-Wye: PCS Book.

Nicholls, V. et al. (2003). Surviving user-led research: Reflections on supporting user-led research projects. London: Mental Health Foundation.

Psychiatric Rehabilitation Journal, (2002), 25(4) has numerous articles on c/s involvement in research.

Speed, E. “What exactly is an Emanicpatory Methodology?” online doc saved to folder. . www.nda.ie/cntmgmtnew.nsf/0/87418679FAE58B0E80256F02004753E9/$File/ParA1.htm

Thornicroft G. & Tansella, M. Growing Recognition of the importance of service user involvement in mental health service planning and evaluation. Epidemiologica e Psichiatria Sociale 14(1), 1-4.

